A photograph of a meeting room. The room features a drop ceiling with recessed fluorescent lights. The walls are primarily a deep red color, with a whiteboard mounted on the back wall. A clock is positioned above the whiteboard. To the left of the whiteboard, there is a wooden door and a green trash can. To the right, there is a wooden double door. The floor is covered in a pattern of large, colorful tiles in shades of green, red, and blue. In the foreground, two long, light-colored rectangular tables are arranged side-by-side, with several brown folding chairs placed around them. In the background, another similar table is visible near the whiteboard. The overall atmosphere is functional and professional.
